

Contents

导 读	iii
范劲松
Acknowledgements	xvii
Series Editors' note	xviii
Notes on contributors	xxi
Section 1
Language assessment and mixed methods research: Fundamental considerations and symbiosis	1
1 The confluence of language assessment and mixed methods	2
Aleidine J. Moeller
2 Managing language assessment systems and mixed methods	18
Nick Saville
Section 2
Conducting mixed methods research: Key elements, steps and considerations	35
3 What is mixed methods research?	36
John W. Creswell and Yuchun Zhou
4 Mixed methods designs	54
Nick Ziegler and Le Kang
5 Drawing mixed methods procedural diagrams	92
Debra R. Miller and Carolina Bustamante
6 Writing and publishing mixed methods studies in second language learning and assessment: Ten essential elements	130
Sheri Hurlbut

Section 3
Mixed methods research in language assessment: Case studies	167
7 Enhancing test validation through rigorous mixed methods components	168
Timothy C. Guetterman and Angeliki Salamoura
8 A community-based participatory approach to test development: The International Legal English Certificate	196
Ivana Vidaković and Martin Robinson
9 Rating scale development: A multistage exploratory sequential design	231
Evelina Galaczi and Nahal Khabbazzashi
10 The development of a new Reading task: A mixed methods approach	259
Mark Elliott and Gad S. Lim
11 Investigating the impact of international assessment: A convergent parallel mixed methods approach	301
Hanan Khalifa and Coreen Docherty
Section 4
From ideas to action	332
12 Ideas to action: A framework for the design and implementation of a mixed methods study	333
Andrew Hustad and Sarah McElwee
References	364