

Contents

导 读	iii
林敦来
Acknowledgements	xxi
Series Editors' note	xxii
Notes on contributors	xxviii
Section 1
History and background	1
1 Introduction	2
Rosemary Wilson and Monica Poulter
2 A brief history of Cambridge English Language Assessment Teaching Qualifications	11
Alan Pulverness
Section 2
Development and assessment	36
3 Good practice in INSET: An analysis of the Delta	41
Simon Borg and David Albery
4 The role of portfolios in language teacher assessment	70
Neil Anderson
5 The 'dirty mirror' of reflective practice: Assessing self- and peer-evaluation on a CELTA course	103
Jo-Ann Delaney
6 Capturing the ephemeral: Standardising the assessment of teaching practice	128
Evelina D. Galaczi and Marie Therese Swabey

7	Developing and assessing English language teacher trainers Marie Morgan	160
Section 3
Focus on the assessment of specific criteria		198
8	Teachers' language competence: Issues of appropriation and appropriacy Jenny Johnson and Monica Poulter	202
9	Language awareness: Research, planning, teaching and beyond Martin Parrott	225
10	Thinking on their feet: Assessing teachers' flexibility and responsiveness in the language classroom Rosemary Wilson	259
11	TKT: Testing knowledge about teaching Mary Spratt	274
Section 4
Assessment in context		290
12	Impact of TKT in Uruguay 2005–2012 Gerardo Valazza	295
13	Testing knowledge about content teaching in English Kay Bentley	319
14	Using international teacher education programmes in local contexts Peter Watkins with Bill Harris and Alan Pulverness	343
15	Integrating theory and practice: The case of Delta at Bilkent University Simon Phipps	363
16	Culture and context in the external assessment of teaching David M. Palfreyman	392
Appendices
Appendix A	CELTA performance descriptors	419
Appendix B	Specifications for Delta Module Two assessment	421
Appendix C	TKT: Practical band descriptors	439